Everett C. Furman,
Park Board Head,
Northeast Speaker

Tells of Operations
At Stadium; Muller Is Re-Elected President

Everett C. Furman, chairman of the Freeport Park Commission, gave an interesting talk on the work of the department and the Municipal Stadium at a meeting of the Northeast Civic Association in the home of Harry J. Berkowitz, 215 North Ocean ave., Friday night.

He said that of 25 nights of stock and midday car racing scheduled to date, Promoter Jacob Kedenburg had been exceedingly fortunate as there had not been a single postponement this season, though threatening and cold weather had kept down the attendance on some nights. He said stock car races were drawing large crowds, but expressed the opinion that the midday gets were on their way out, as the Friday night attendance has been the lowest of the three nights of racing weekly.

Concessions Do Big Business

Mr. Furman told of how the village shares in the receipts of stadium events on a sliding scale based on the size of the attendance. He also said the concessionaires also pay to the village 20 percent of the gross sales receipts. He also said that on an average the concessionaires take in 34 cents for each person attending the races, which is far higher than most stadiums in the area.

He also told of how in co-operation with the Nassau County Health Department, the stadium has a high rating for the handling of food at the various stands. He described how the village was being protected against persons illegally gaining admission to the stadium by the use of turnstiles and of similar precautions being taken regarding receipts from the various concessions. Rarely does the count of tickets sold vary by more than two or three from the turnstile figures, he commented.

Mr. Furman said that although everything possible had been done to induce boxing and wrestling to stage shows at the local Stadium stage shows at the local Stadium.

Albert Acerno Called For Service in Japan

Albert Acerno, teacher of English in the Freeport Junior-Senior High School, is the first member of the faculty to be called for active service in the army as a result of the war in Korea.

Mr. Acerno, who attained the rank of captain in World War II was located in the intelligence division where he served with honor. He has been instructed to report for duty and will leave shortly for Japan to serve in the same division as that in which he participated during the last war. He has been granted a leave of absence by the Board of Education to start immediately and to continue as long as the government is in need of his services.

The teacher became a member of the F.H.S. faculty prior to World War II. He handles the dramatic presentations in the junior high school and is in demand as master of ceremonies in events sponsored by the teachers and students.

Posner Acquires Practice
Of Geo. Fife, Optometrist

Julius Posner, optometrist, 6 West Merrick rd., recently purchased the practice, files and records of George Fife who has been practicing in Freeport for 50 years. Mr. Fife has retired but his practice is being handled by Mr. Posner.

Mr. Posner has lived in Freeport all his life and is personally acquainted with many of Mr. Fife's patients. During the war, Mr. Posner served in the army. He is a graduate of Columbia University. He has been practicing his profession in the same building for ten years.

An Editorial

For quite a few weeks this paper has presented a recommendation that our Civic Associations undertake a program of gathering information which will aid business men and citizens in making Freeport a better place in which to live and work. Almost every person with whom we have talked has agreed that this is an important and necessary step if we are to make progress and gain a higher degree of security.

Within the past three weeks our nation has undertaken the tremendous task of physically protecting other nations who are anxious to preserve the rights of their citizens to live in a free society. Every person in America thereby automatically becomes committed to participate in supporting this great cause. Probably no more important work needs be done than that of being prepared to supply the needs of those on the trouble fronts. Man power is not of much value without equipment. Freeport may appear quite insignificant to many when considering the vast scope and needs of this undertaking. It is the same sort of feeling one gets toward himself ... a sort of "what can one person do about it?" feeling when he realizes hundreds of thousands of persons are involved.

It is gratifying to know that the success of our country and the people who live in it is due to each individual and not a mass. That it is largely the ability of our people to think, act and live as individuals while at the same time collectively helping each other which has made our living an example of good living the world over.

Now more than ever before we as a community must pull together. Each individual of our twenty-four thousand is an important part. Each can make a valuable contribution. Each person is needed. The United States is comprised of many places and many people. All are important. Necessary! The value we can render to our fellow men is to a large extent dependent upon how well we can work together. Would it not be a good idea for Freeport to be prepared? To know what things and services we will be able to contribute to this international need. To provide the facilities through which our manufacturers, retailers and citizens can collaborate on doing any job that may be required of us. Why not call a meeting of our industrial groups and Civic organizations to organize a program which will prepare us to make the best contribution to our nation and our Village?

An effort of preparedness now may save us from failure in the future.

Unity Party Outing Proclaimed
'Biggest and Best' It Ever Held

"Biggest and best" are the only words which adequately describe the annual outing staged by the Unity Party at the Hempstead Town Park, Point Lookout, Saturday. Close to 350 persons attended, and they all declared those who stayed away missed one of the most enjoyable events of their lives. The weather was just right and the committees catered in every way possible to the interests of their guests.

Patrolman Joseph Romelka and the Freeport Police Boys' Club band put on an excellent program which was made audible all over the park through the facilities of the loud speaker system.

There were games for picnickers of all ages with prizes for the winners. Everyone received free refreshments, and many took a dip in the surf. It was not until almost supper time that the crowd began to thin out.

Dr. George A. Newton, the Unity Party president, spent considerable time at the beach as did Mayor Robert L. Dossie and all the other members of the Village Board. Cord Webster and Peter Kelly were co-chairmen of the arrange-

Seek Annexation
Of Southeast Area
To Village Limits

Vought Presses Issue
At Board Meeting;
Protest Tall Weeds

Application has been filed by realty interests and others for the annexation of town lands in the extreme southeastern village to the incorporated village. Kenneth E. Vought appeared at the Village Board meeting Monday night to urge favorable action by the village. The area includes West Fourth st., East Bedell st., and the theoretical East First Second Third and Fourth sts., east of Main st.

Mr. Vought said the Hempstead Town Board approved of the matter in June. He added that the property was not in any districts to complicate the situation and the only thing that would have to be negotiated was the matter of several polls owned by the Long Island Lighting Co. Village Counsel Martin H. Weyrauch explained he was waiting a certified copy of the Town Board's action.

A delegation of members of the Atlantic-South Civic Association appeared at the meeting to ascertain what the board could do to abate the weed-nuisance in the area. President W. E. Watson referred to the fact the board recently adopted an ordinance permitting the village to clear potentially inflammable materials from private property and assess the cost against the owners.

Superintendent of Buildings submitted his monthly report, showing that during June, 35 permits were issued for 35 new buildings estimated to cost, $531,735 and 23, for additions and alterations involving $33, 665, for a total of $565,400.

Permission was given for Henry Theodore Mohr Post, V.P.W., to change the dates of its carnival to the week of Sept. 4 to 9 inclusive.

Arts And Crafts For The Aging
Suggested To Help Eke Out Living

Mrs. Henrietta Rabe, superintendent in charge of work for the aging and aged for the New York State Department of Education, in her recent address on the subject before the Freeport Community Council, outlined the problems faced in providing adequate recreation and even facilities for eking out a livelihood in these days of the 50 cent dollar.

She also offered several suggestions as to projects for meeting these problems.

"While there is much that government can do, the problems can be tackled more directly within the local community, which is why we are here tonight. So I should like to devote the rest of my talk to ways in which you, as a Community Council, might come to grips with some of the problems here in Freeport. I am going to suggest two projects for your consideration.

"The first one relates to employment needs, the second one to other needs, such as I have enumerated. Perhaps one will fit your particular needs here in Freeport better than the other. You, of course, will be the best judge of that. In any event you ought to make a survey of your own town. How many are there in the 65 plus group, in the 50-60 group. How many are married couples, how many widowed or otherwise single. How and where do these folks live? Are there children in homes for the aged, in boarding homes, in nursing homes, in furnished rooms. How many are working; how many are receiving old age assistance; how many are active in community activities.

"Now, then, the first project which I am going to propose has as its objective self-employment for those people who need to supplement their income either to make them self-supporting or to raise their income beyond that of mere subsistence.

"There is much that the schools can do in the way of helping the individual develop skills that are marketable. However, in order for such training to be most effective it should be geared to some marketing channel. To date, no marketing channel has been created for the older person, although there are many existing marketing channels set up for other groups that might serve as a pattern, particularly in the field of the hand skills.

"The crafts as occupational activity for the older person are highly recommended because of the very nature of them they appeal to all people; they act as an emotional release, and also because one is able to engage in them either as an individual in his own home or as a member of a group. There are many craft guilds, sheltered workshops, farm and market shops, and

Legion and Auxiliary Bring Joy To Veterans at Kings Park Hospital

Twenty-one hundred veterans of World Wars I and II, and 125 children, who are patients at the Kings Park State Hospital, Kings Park, were made happy Sunday when members of William Clinton Story Post, A.L., and its Ladies Auxiliary made their 32nd annual pilgrimage to the institution.

They took with them, 93,000 cigarettes, the quota assigned them, as well as ice cream and coke for all in addition to clothing, magazines and playing cards.

Entertainment was provided by Scotty Stauffer, of Great Neck, formerly of Merriek, in the York Theatre of the hospital. About 20 dog owners put their animals through the paces at demonstrations of obedience on the baseball field.

The Legionnaires and Auxiliary members were thanked by Supervisor Charles Carroll for the excellent time given the patients.

Though still in pain from the beating he received at the hands of thugs, Commander Oscar J. Pultz made the trip. E. Willard Helland, welfare officer of the post, and Mrs. Barbara C. Cugger, of the Auxiliary were in charge. They expressed their appreciation to all who in any way helped in the success of the pilgrimage.

A delegation from the Nassau County Legion attended the Suffolk County convention in Patchogue Saturday. It included C. Howard Larsen, county commander; William C. Hauser, vice-commander; and the Tenth District, Past

County Commander Herman Hauck and County publicity chairman Daniel J. Carmichael.

Baldwin Library Shows Thoreau Collection

There is on display in the Baldwin Public Library a collection of interesting material on Henry David Thoreau whose birthday is celebrated this month.

It was loaned by Edward Way Teale, Baldwin naturalist and photographer.

Included in the display is one of the pencils made by Thoreau in the back room of the Thoreau home.

In his Journal for November 20, 1852, Thoreau notes that he was obliged to manufacture and sacrifice a thousand dollars' worth of pencils to pay off the debt incurred in the publication of his first book, "A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers."

Henry Thoreau lived for two years in a humble cabin in the Concord Woods subsisting on the work of his own hands. It was during this time that he wrote "Walden," his best known work. A brick fragment from his hut-site is also part of the exhibit.

Also displayed are three unusual editions of Thoreau's writings: "The Evergreen Edition of Wild Apples," published by Houghton in 1923; "Night and Moonlight," published in 1921; and "Selected Quotations," published in 1948.

The photographs on the bulletin boards were taken by Mr. Teale. They include a view of the Thoreau Atcott house where Thoreau died and a picture of his birthplace.

Maps of the Concord region made by Thoreau and Gleason are also displayed on the bulletin board.

Mr. Teale is an active member of the Thoreau Society established in 1941 by a small group of Thoreau enthusiasts. Memberships is now in the hundreds, covering the country from coast to coast and in seven foreign lands including people from all walks of life.

Hang up gently when the line is in use

The loud clicking of another party's telephone receiver can be very annoying when you are making a call. So please—think of the other fellow and hang up gently when the line is in use. Here are some other suggestions that will help you and your telephone neighbors get the best party line service:

- Space your calls when you have several to make.
- Answer promptly when your telephone rings.
- In an emergency give up the line promptly.
- Teach your children the "Golden Rule" of party line usage.

In many places we are still unable to provide a better grade of service than that which you now have. We are working hard to provide the necessary switchboards, cables and other complicated equipment—and we're keeping a careful record of all applications for better grades of service. They will be filled just as soon as possible.

Adelphi Teacher Group To Summer in the South

The first group of students enrolled in the new Teacher Education Program at Adelphi College, Garden City, will leave tomorrow for an orientation period at the Adelphi College Camp at Springdale Farms, near Canton, N.C. The students will be accompanied by Dr. Agnes Snyder, director of the new program, and will make their first stop at Williamsburg, Va. They will arrive at the college camp Sunday to remain until Sept. 8. The group will then return to the Adelphi Campus, to take up regular class work.

The summer's work will include a study of the new Teacher Education Program in the region of Springdale Farms, which is a 1,200 acre tract of farm and woodland in the Pigeon River Valley, on the eastern edge of the Tennessee Valley.

In addition to studying the economic and geographic aspects of the camp area, the students will take part in actual farm work, such as gardening, care of animals and repairs, thus learning to understand the contribution of the farmer to today's life. Students also will have the opportunity to take part in the activities of the immediate neighborhood.

Adelphi's new program is a five-year plan for the preparation of nursery, kindergarten, primary, elementary and secondary school teachers, leading to state certification at these levels, and to the Master of Arts degree. It is designed to achieve a greater integration of professional training with liberal arts curriculum than generally prevails.

Old First National Has 45th Anniversary

Lighting of Neon Sign
Features Event At
Meadow Brook Gathering

The 45th anniversary of the opening of the First National Bank of Freeport, later the First National Bank & Trust Co., and now the Freeport office of the Meadow Brook National Bank, was observed Friday night.

The bank began operations under the presidency of Roswell Davis.

In the late 1920's, it received its trust powers, becoming the First National Bank and Trust Company of Freeport, and last November it was merged with the former First National Bank of Merrick to become the Meadow Brook National Bank.

On opening day in 1905, 82 accounts were registered totaling $522,154. On June 30, 1950, the Freeport office of the Meadow Brook National Bank had 13,087 accounts totaling more than $10,000,000 in deposits.

The anniversary was celebrated by the Meadow Brook National Bank, which now has a third office in West Hempstead, by a gathering of its directors, officers and employees in the Freeport office. The celebration centered around the lighting of the new neon signs recently installed on all three office buildings.

Miss Mary B. Davis, daughter of Roswell Davis, and the employee of the bank with the longest period of service, threw the switch, which lighted the three signs simultaneously.

More than one hundred members of the Meadow Brook organization were present at the celebration, presided over by President Augustus B. Weller.

The Freeport Community Orchestra, organized last year under the sponsorship of the Adult Education program, is holding rehearsals every Monday night from 8 to 10 o'clock in the Freeport High School auditorium. Any adult musician residing in this area is eligible to join.

If one played a musical instrument some years ago (particularly viola or bello) he is invited to the high school any Monday night. There are no auditions, and many of the personnel are now playing the instrument that they "put away in the attic" after high school graduation—and getting a lot of fun out of it.

Rehearsals are held all year long. J. Maynard Wettlaufer is the director of the group, and officers are Leon Radin, president; Edward Kapsak, Louis Perez, Sol Uman, and Florence Wilhelmson.

Religious Groups Plan Mineola Fair Exhibits

An indication of the activities being undertaken by religious organizations to counteract communist movements, discerned by President J. Alfred Valentine of the Mineola Fair, is revealed by reservation of space by seven denominational organizations during the 108th Fair Sept. 12 to 16. This is the greatest number of such "concessions" in one year within the memory of any of the directors, some having served nearly half a century, he said.

Organizations represented include The Church of Christ, Scientist; the New York State Council of Church Women (Episcopal); Register of Church Women; Bahai Regional Teaching Committee, an oriental faith; The Gideons, Latter Day Saints (Mormons); the Christian Endeavor Society; and the Queens County Child Evangelism Committee (non denominational). Others are in negotiation.

In recognition of increasing interest in square dancing, President Valentine has authorized five full nights of this type of dancing, eliminating the former custom of devoting two nights of Fair-week to modern dancing. Paul Hunt, of Hempstead, in charge of these events, is also assembling many groups of folk and national dancers of all countries, Fred W. Franz of Westbury, being associated with this portion of the program.

Things to Remember

Once more our boys are fighting a war—this time in far off Korea.

Whatever reasons there may be for our fighting there, one thing is plain to me. They are fighting to preserve our "AMERICAN WAY" of life.

To me this means many things, for example:
The right of freedom of speech.
The right to vote with no one telling us who to vote for.
The right to worship GOD as we choose, and through whatever church we see fit.

The right for any boy or girl to grow up and become president of the United States.

The right for a little business to grow big.

The right for some one to offer the very best possible service, thereby making themselves indispensable to those they serve.

The right to earn our own living as we choose.

The right to pick our own doctor or dentist.

The right to save for our future.

Now, the right of freedom of speech has not been too badly tampered with, and we can still worship GOD in our own manner. . . . We can still vote as we see fit, and surely, any boy or girl can still grow up to be president of the United States.

But how about these other rights?

There is a movement on foot to destroy big business. Why? They started as little businesses, and through hard work, ingenuity and sacrifice on the part of the owners, workers, and others, they were able to grow "big." What is so terrible about that? Growth in anything is normal and healthy.

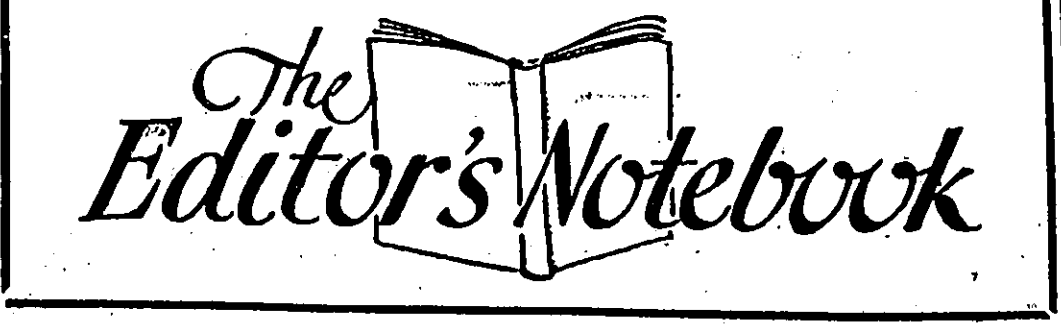

As to earning a living as we choose, that's become a delicate proposition. Recently one labor union tried to keep a man from earning his living. Why? Because he was not using the union. If that isn't telling a man how to make his living, what is?

And the right to choose our own doctor or dentist. There has recently been put forth considerable pressure to bring socialized medicine to the United States. Can't we learn from the experience of England?

How about the right to save? After the heavy load of taxes due to WASTE on the part of our government, what is there left to save?

Yes . . . our boys are once more fighting to preserve the AMERICAN WAY of life.

Would it not be well to remember we have a few things worth fighting for here at home?

Politicians talking about the "WELFARE STATE" always make me wonder, whose welfare, theirs or ours?

Food for thought (Republicans only) . . . When President Truman spoke to the graduating class of Missouri University from under a canopy, the rain soaked the members of the class. But this was a good lesson. They must learn that being soaked by the Truman administration is to be expected.

Food for thought (Democrats only) . . . Mr. Dewey, at 48, is still a very young man. As politicians go, he is still a youngster. Yet Mr. Dewey gives health as the prime reason for quitting the fights. We pause to think what would have happened if he had been elected to the presidency on his last outing. Perhaps winning would have been the tonic which would have cured everything.

"Sound Thinker" . . . A person whose opinions coincide with your own.

Added thought:
We cannot hold a torch to light another's path without brightening our own.

Ray Clements

Letters to the Editor

Editor of The Leader:

The Long Island Railroad received the following letter from a disgruntled rider—who lives near Northport, Long Island:

I have been riding trains daily for the past two years and the service on your line seems to be getting worse every day. I am getting tired of standing in the aisle all the time on a 60 mile trip.

I wish the transportation is worse than that enjoyed by the people 2,000 years ago.

Yours truly,
Dear Sir:

We received your letter with reference to the shortcomings of your service and believe you are somewhat confused in your history. The only mode of transportation 2,000 years ago was by foot.

Yours truly,
Reply from complainant:

I am in receipt of your letter and I think you are the ones who are confused in your history. If you will refer to the Bible, Book of David, 9th chapter, you will find that Balaam rode into town on his ass. That, gentlemen, is something I have not been able to do on your trains for the past two years.

Yours truly,
Editor of The Leader:

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13.—Have you ever seen a kindly-faced elderly lady at a concert who has her handkerchief while others in the audience were clapping their hands—and then suddenly stop apparently abashed?

She, no doubt, was a Chautauqua "graduate"—giving the Chautauqua salute—that for years has been a hallmark of the famed old institution on the western shore of the beautiful lake of the same name in western New York State.

The custom originated years ago when a deafened speaker appeared on the institution's lecture platform. A considerate presiding officer, realizing that hand-claps of applause could not be heard by the speaker, suggested the waving of handkerchiefs as a substitute. And the Chautauqua salute has existed ever since.

Chautauqua Institution, unique in its field, although there have been many imitations, is the many features of the Chautauqua Lake Region, noted for its quiet beauty, its friendly folk, and its recreational opportunities. Like to swim? Like to fish? Like sailing? Or, perchance, you want to get some college credits at the same time? All can be done on the shores and waters of Chautauqua Lake.

More than 1,800 feet above sea level, Chautauqua Lake is reputedly the highest body of water in the world that is navigable by steamboat. The last steamer on the lake—once there were many—still chugs valiantly about the lake on charter excursions, with frequent trips available to the public.

Chautauqua Lake means the fighting tiger muskie—although in Chautauqua County they seem to prefer to call the big fish a "tunge." The State Conservation Department's hatchery at Bemus Point produces fingerlings about as fast as avid anglers can catch 'em. Smallmouth bass are plentiful in the northern half of the lake; largemouths are found mostly in the shallower south end.

The intrepid LaSalle was probably the first white man to navigate Chautauqua Lake in 1681. Jamestown, the largest community in the area, was named for James Fenimore, who built a dam on the Chataquo River, the lake's outlet, to furnish water power for a grist mill. The lake for many years was an important freight route between Pittsburgh and Buffalo, for there is only a short overland haul between Chautauqua and Erie. But the water from Chautauqua Lake doesn't go to Lake Erie—it goes south, finally reaching the Gulf of Mexico.

All around the lake are cottage colonies and pretentious summer beaches. There are several public beaches. On the lake's shore is dotted with blowing sails; outboard and inboard motorboats charge over the lake's surface.

The name Chautauqua, of course, is thought of internationally as meaning the "assembly" which started in 1873 as a Sunday school teacher training school. But its interests widened, and soon it was attracting thousands of persons to hear famous lecturers, noted musicians and political leaders. Imitations soon appeared, both stationary and those which toured the rural

How to Attract New Industries to Freeport

AND VICINITY

CHAPTER VII

Probable Demands Due To War

Last week we suggested a starting point for conducting a necessary study of economic information about Freeport as a forerunner to effecting planned economic progress for this area. Programs such as this not only aid the prospective business in locating here but also provide much valuable data which can be utilized by manufacturers and other business firms already functioning as a part of the community.

With our country in another state of war crisis and the probable demands that will result upon our manufacturing firms, the data we have suggested be gathered could serve a very valuable purpose. Increasing demands for workers and materials will occur if hostilities continue. Many types of businesses will convert to war work. Garages and small machine shops, wood working establishments, garment plants or plastic fabricators may be forced to convert from consumer products to essential production. In many instances these companies will become subcontractors to larger concerns contracting with the government. It is entirely possible that many will become subcontractors to subcontractors.

A survey of existing industry will place on file in a central clearing house up to date information describing the type of equipment available in each plant and factory. This should not only identify the equipment but also should list types of products that can be produced. For example, a first class garage or body works very likely could undertake subcontract work on buffing, grinding and polishing. A sash storm window and screen plant could contract for shipping crates, special containers or instrument cabinets. There is a place for almost every type of processing or manufacturing firm. However, many of these will require assistance and almost all will welcome the valuable aid that can be rendered by a well informed properly operated information bureau.

Here is further emphasis upon the value and need for a centralized information bureau operating in a community such as ours. The existence of a clearing house for business and industrial information in itself will attract the attention of other manufacturing concerns giving us a greater opportunity to induce them to locate in this area. I will provide good material for advertising and publicizing the area.

There will be some expense in conducting this work. It is logical that this be borne proportionately by those who will gain the greatest benefit. Probably at the top of this list will come the retail merchants. Good payrolls, high employment and secure producing companies assure good markets for retail establishments. The taxpayer will gain protection and security. Each of these segments of the community should not only participate through contribution of personal time and effort but directly aid in properly financing the work to be done.

Most municipalities of the size of Freeport already have well financed advertising programs. . . . have a centralized information bureau staffed with competent full-time personnel. Many of these are confronted with greater limitations than Freeport. We are fortunate in that we do have the highest calibre of labor. Within the confines of our residential boundaries we have many outstanding specialists on business and industrial subjects. Most of these will cooperate with the community in furthering a project which could be so important for each person living here. With the urgency increased because of the present state of national and international affairs, NOW is the time to get underway.

The Leader Bookshelf

By MRS. ELIZABETH F. KELLY

Librarian, Freeport Memorial Library

"Savage Gentleman," by Noel B. Gerson, is an addition to the list of good stories of our own state's colonial period, 1705 and so on. The time is shortly after the massacre of Schenectady.

Nathaniel Hill lived up on the Mohawk River. In his household was his beautiful daughter, Leah, recently returned from school in Philadelphia; his bond servants—Jeffrey Wyatt, handsome, always remembering to act as a gentleman; Benjie Brown, a friend of Jeffrey's in England; and Matilda Zimmerman in love with Benjie, indentured as a companion for Leah. Leah's beauty had attracted the interest of Lieutenant Simon Willard, of the nearby Fort, as well as that of other young men.

These were turbulent times in personal living as well as in the nation. The help of the Onondaga Indians was needed by the sisters so Wyatt and Willard were sent to secure their alliance. Though this dangerous mission was really accomplished, it was some years before the Hill family again heard from the young man. Adair, the beautiful Seneca princess, plays a large part in this portion of the story. Little is heard of the successful march by Colonel Benjamin Church and his men upon Fort Royal. Had his request been followed, Canada, or at least Eastern Canada might now be a part of the United States. Wyatt's years among the Senecas played no mean part in this expedition and we again meet Pausus, the Seneca chief. Much of the material for the latter part of the book, Savage Gentleman, was gleaned by the author from a book on Indian Wars published in Boston in 1716.

Freeport Leads Kiwanis Travelers With 7 Victories and 0 Defeats

The Freeport Barons are leading the procession in the Kiwanis Traveling Baseball League with a record of seven victories and no defeats. A year ago when the local club entered the league for the first time, the squad went through the season without a defeat to annex not only the local championship, but the New York State title as well. With such a good start, Everett C. Furman, chairman of the baseball committee, is hopeful history will repeat itself.

With only three more games to go in local competition before starting the playoffs, the Barons have every reason to expect to win the title. It has already beaten the second place Malverne squad twice, once by a count of 9 to 5, and the second time, 6 to 0, when Bob Trishch, the local hurler, plucked a no-hitter. He also held the Lakeview B team hitless in another game which the locals won, 15 to 0.

Scores of other games follow: Freeport, 7; Rarebits (Rockville Centre), 0. Freeport, 7; Roosevelt, 0. (Forfeit) Freeport, 12; Lakeview A, 2. Freeport, 15; Lakeview B, 3.

The Freeporters are scheduled to play the Rarebits at the Stadium next Monday evening in a league contest. Besides Pitcher Trishch, the team comprises Dick Schaepp, first; Larry Perez, catcher; Gus Sjoelund, second; Phil Roberts, short stop; Bruce Robbins, third; Walter Muhlbauer, Tom King and Walter Meldeberger, outfielders; with Jim Morrow, Ben Brucia, Don Hinchins, Larry Okun, John Papacusma and George Kelly, utility men.

Roberts is doing his share toward keeping the team on top with his phenomenal batting average of .730 for the seven games.

Hawks Hold Jr. Lead In Baldwin Kiwanis

Mendelssohn Kin, Duse Goddaughter Giradoux' "Madwoman" At Strand

Eleanora Mendelssohn, great-great granddaughter of Felix Mendelssohn, and god-daughter of the stage immortal Eleanora Duse, is the Countess Aurelia, in Jean Giradoux' bizarre stage fable which comes to the Strand Theatre, Sunrise Highway, Rockville Centre, for a week beginning Tuesday evening, July 25, with matinees Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday.

In the original Parisian settings by Christian Berard which won the Donaldson Award, "Madwoman" comes to the Strand from a triumphant tour of the country. Recognized as one of the finest plays of recent seasons, a work of richly imagined wit and charm, "Madwoman of Chailot" revolves around the search beneath Paris for a mythical gusher of oil, and the machinations of the Countess Aurelia and her similarly affected cronies to thwart the endeavors of the searchers.

Joining Miss Mendelssohn, a star in Europe under Max Reinhardt, will be other members of the original cast including Joan Crodon, Martin Kosleck, Neville Westman, Sandro Giglio, Dehl Askin, Katherine Balfour, Alan Shayne, Edward Forbes, Claiborne Bryson, Leon Askin, and Gayne Sullivan.

Where To Dine

Since we last visited the LINDEN REST on No. Grand ave., Baldwin, a few weeks ago, our mouths have been watering for a big dish of SAUERBRATEN our host HENRY HAUCK told us about. So at our first opportunity we made a return visit. As before, we found it a very cool and pleasant place and the SAUERBRATEN was delicious.

All week long our appetites have been terrific, more so than usual. In such a mood, nothing is more satisfying than a really good steak. We have found from experience that SULLIVAN'S on Sunrise Highway in Bellmore serves just about the finest steak to be found and what we like about the place aside from the food is the fact that we can sit in real comfort, take our coats off, and if need be, roll up our sleeves. This is a very good eating place and the SULLIVANS are very pleasant people.

Do you like Italian cooking? If you do, there is a very good place in Freeport at 5 South Main st. known as THE LAMP. They serve such tasty dishes as chicken caeciatore and lobster fra diavola. We made a visit there the other evening and enjoyed it very much.

For years the "wiser half" has been telling me I eat too much and talk too much but mostly I eat too much. (You married men know how it is.) For a long time she has been telling me I should eat more salads and if I did I'd be much healthier. So one noon-time in VIEBROCK'S on South Main st. in Freeport she ordered a salad for me. Being a dutiful husband and having learned from many years' experience what is good for me, I of course, ate the salad. Now I've got to admit it was very, very tasty and believe it or not, for a few hours I felt very healthy. Maybe I ought to eat more salads and feel healthier all the time.

These are wonderful days for backyard picnicking. It seems more and more people are enjoying them. We have some very good friends who have been especially nice to us who recently bought a new home. We wanted to give them something useful and practical and for a long time we tried to figure out what they would need. The "wiser half" suggested, "Why not give them an out door barbeque set?"

"A splendid idea," said I, "but why not go a step further and treat them to an outdoor picnic in their own backyard? We'll buy all the fixings and give them a real treat." So off on a shopping spree (our first since two days before Christmas) and our first stop was WHITEHEAD'S on North Grand ave. in Baldwin, where we found a huge selection of outdoor grills. It didn't take us long to make a purchase here and our next stop was the GOURMET shop where we loaded down with all kinds of delicious delicacies which later proved to be the "hit" of the party. Our next stop was across the street, where at the RED CARDINAL we found some very attractive tableware. With our arms and the trunk of our car loaded, we looked like Daniel Boone crossing the prairie but we sure made a hit with our friends.

We wound up the week by attending the Unity Party Outing at Point Lookout and eating enough hot dogs and hamburgers, soda pop and potato chips to last us all summer. Official Freeport was out in force including such notables as Bob Dossse, Cyril Ryan, Doc Newton, Harry Strecker, Milton Danziger and many, many others. The chairmen, Cord Viebrock and Pete Kelly deserve a flood of thanks for doing such a fine job. The huge crowd was well taken care of and it looked as though everyone had a very good time. I know we did and we appreciated the invitation. It was a swell way to wind up the week. So long 'till next Thursday.

ILSE STANLEY

Centre Playhouse A Dream Realized

Ilse Stanley has Long Sought to Carry Out Rockville Centre Plan

The Centre Playhouse in Rockville Centre is being created as a year round professional stock company.

Ilse Stanley, who will be producer-director, has been searching a long time to find a place suitable for such a venture.

Ilse Stanley came to America from Germany ten years ago. She has a profound knowledge about every phase of theatre and radio. She is a serious minded personality with a tremendous amount of energy and inner strength. Having had stock companies of her own she hoped to build up in America style theatre, with all the people of her staff having year round contracts and security. She soon learned that the creation of such a theatre was an impossible task on Broadway. She wrote, directed and produced many radio programs on major networks in New York, but was constantly yearning to re-establish herself in the legitimate theatre field.

Through a chain of circumstances she contacted Will N. Churman who owns a building in Rockville Centre. Many years ago there was a bank on the ground floor, but for years it had been empty. Many firms applied for the lease of the bank floor, but Mr. Churman refused. When Ilse Stanley proposed to open a professional community theatre and art center at that spot, Will Churman said "Yes!"

"Disregarding the fact that he would not receive any security and probably for quite a while no rent, he not only gave his whole-hearted approval, but on top of that, went out of his way in the most generous manner to give Nassau County this community theatre," Miss Stanley said. "I'm still going around in a dream, I still can't quite conceive the fact that any man should take such unselfish pride in offering such a project to his community."

The theatre will have a capacity of about 200 seats and offer a list of 12 plays per year to its subscribers. The playbill will consist of seven Broadway revivals and five new plays and adaptations of European hits.

The subscribers ticket for 12 plays a year will range from $32.40 to $21.60 for evening performances and $21.60 to $14.40 for matinees. All prices include federal tax.

Officers Re-Elected

It was the annual meeting and the following officers were unanimously re-elected: Charles Muller, president; Carl Jensen, vice-president; Arvid Nordstrom, recording secretary; John Bahr, financial secretary; William E. Crevoleras, treasurer; Thomas Murphy, sergeant-at-arms; Ernest C. Drescher, H. Alfred Vollmer, Stephen Hamlyn, Anthony Mirabella and Arthur Scherer, members of the Board of Directors.

It was reported that the Board of Education was considering floating a $1,300,000 bond issue for the new Bayview ave., school expiring in 25 instead of 30 years. Mr. Crevoleras read a clipping from a Nassau County daily reporting that Lynbrook had sold a $75,000 school bond issue, maturing in 25 years at an interest rate of 1.9 per cent.
